Subject: Delay of Revised Common Rule

January 18, 2018

Dear UCLA Research Community,

OHRPP previously announced changes to the Federal Policy for the Protection of Human Subjects (the Common Rule). The relevant federal agencies have delayed implementation of those changes for at least six months (July 19, 2018) and also announced the possibility that there may be a further delay. The Federal Register notice can be found here.

Until further notice, please ignore guidance provided about these changes in prior Human Research News items or prior sessions of the monthly Research Administration Forum.

Sincerely,
Kip Kantelo
Director, UCLA OHRPP
