1) CRAM Submission Option Removed from BruinIRB

- The combination of continuations and amendments (CRAM) submission option has been permanently removed from the main study workspace.
- This update will not impact a CRAM submission that is in pre-submission or under review by the IRB as of 06/06/2025.
- This change was requested by study teams in order to minimize delays in implementing minor changes submitted as part of a related amendment or avoiding delays in the release of approval for the continuation.

2) Reminder - webIRB to be taken offline on July 1, 2025

- As previously announced, as of 07/01/2025, all accounts in webIRB will be deactivated. Study teams will no longer have access to study information in webIRB.
- If you have any questions, please contact us at BruinIRB@research.ucla.edu.

3) Upcoming OHRPP Learn at Lunch Presentations

Leveraging UCLA CTSI Tools for Smarter Research Recruitment: EHR Strategies & Services

Join Antonia Petrusse, Director and Liliانا Johansen, Sr. Project Manager from the Embedded Clinical Research and Innovation Unit at UCLA CTSI, for a virtual Learn at Lunch seminar exploring the tools and services available to support effective research recruitment. This session will highlight how UCLA-affiliated investigators can access recruitment tools integrated with electronic health records (EHR), streamline outreach to potential participants, and implement ethical strategies for engaging populations with sensitive health conditions.
